JMJ

I give my life for my sheep.

Yo doy mi vida por mis ovejas.

In 1963, Pope Paul VI designated the Fourth Sunday of Easter as Good Shepherd Sunday and World Day of Prayer for Vocations. Jesus, the Good Shepherd, protects us as his flock and has promised us eternal life. As followers of Jesus, we are called to remain faithful to the grace of God. As we celebrate this feast, we pray that he grants us fidelity to our vocation. The Church invites us to honor the vocation that all Christians receive in our Baptism. Those who have devoted their lives to God through the vocation to marriage, priesthood, diaconate, consecrated life, or singleness remain faithful to our commitments. May those discerning their vocation listen and be guided by God's grace.

The World Day of Prayer for Vocations' goals are established and discussed in the Papal messages directed each year to the whole Church. That message is that Sunday is a public testimony to the community in prayer to obey the Lord's command: "Pray the Lord of the harvest to send laborers into his harvest." (Mt 9: 38; Lk 10: 2) It is the high point of unceasing prayer. It also reaffirms the importance of faith and grace regarding consecrated vocations.

While expressing his appreciation for all vocations, the Church, on the occasion of the World Day, focuses mainly on consecrated vocations to be ordained ministers and to consecrated life in all its forms: priesthood, diaconate, societies of apostolic life, secular institutes in the variety of its functions and its partners, to missionary life in the concrete sense of mission "ad gentes."

The passage of the Gospel, although very short, is very rich in its content. There is no doubt that. For those who have had the grace to know the life of the shepherds, we know that the sheep is a very loyal and noble animal. It follows its shepherd without difficulty. That is why Jesus ascribes this title to himself, hoping that we will know, we will listen, and will follow Him. Jesus, as Good Shepherd, cares for us and gives us his life. This image of the Good Shepherd defines the consecrated people in the priestly vocation and consecrated life. This is our mission: to be good shepherds, to know our faithful, to know what they need, and to help all of you to follow Jesus. With our frailties and weaknesses, we, the priests of this community, strive to be good shepherds. Sometimes we may not do as you expect. We ask for your forgiveness for those moments, but be assured that our desire and intentions are only to be images of the Good Shepherd.

My brothers and sisters, let us pray for the priests worldwide. May they be good shepherds of our Church. Let us pray for those preparing to become priests to be the good shepherds our society and our church need. Let us pray that the Lord continues to touch the hearts of many young people, especially in our parish community, so that many would like to become good shepherds.

May God bless us all.

En 1963 el Papa Pablo VI designó la fiesta del Buen Pastor como la Jornada Mundial de Oración por las Vocaciones el cuarto Domingo de Pascua. Jesús, el Buen Pastor, nos protege como su rebaño y nos ha prometido la vida eterna. Como seguidores de Jesús estamos llamados a permanecer fieles a la gracia de Dios. Al celebrar esta fiesta oramos se nos conceda fidelidad a nuestra vocación. La Iglesia nos invita a honrar la vocación que todos los cristianos recibimos en nuestro Bautismo. Que nosotros que hemos dedicado nuestras vidas a Dios a través de la vocación al matrimonio, sacerdocio, diaconado, vida consagrada o soltería permanezcamos fieles a nuestros compromisos. Que aquellos que están discerniendo su vocación escuchen y se dejen guiar por la gracia de Dios.

Los fines de la Jornada Mundial de Oración por las Vocaciones son los que han sido establecidos y comentados en los Mensajes Pontificios dirigidos cada año a toda la Iglesia: dicha Jornada constituye un testimonio público de la comunidad en oración para obedecer el mandato del Señor: "Rogad al Dueño de la mies que envíe operarios a su mies" (Mt 9, 38; Lc 10, 2). Es el momento fuerte de una oración incansante; reafirma, además, la primacía de la fe y de la gracia en lo relativo a las vocaciones consagradas.

Aun expresando su estima por todas las vocaciones, la Iglesia, con ocasión de esta Jornada Mundial, centra su atención particularmente en las vocaciones consagradas: a los ministerios ordenados (presbiterado y diaconado); a la vida consagrada en todas sus formas (masculina y femenina, contemplativa y apostólica); a las sociedades de vida apostólica y a los institutos seculares en la variedad de sus funciones y de sus asociados; a la vida misionera, en el sentido concreto de misión "ad gentes".

El pasaje del evangelio de este cuarto domingo de pascua, aunque muy corto, no hay duda de que es muy rico en su contenido. Los que hemos tenido la gracia de conocer la vida de los pastores en el campo, sabemos que la oveja es un animal muy fiel y noble, y que sigue a su pastor sin dificultad. Por eso mismo Jesús se atribuye ese título, esperando que nosotros le conozcamos, le escuchemos y le sigamos. Él como Buen Pastor nos cuida y da la vida por nosotros. Esta imagen del Buen Pastor es una imagen que define muy bien la vida del consagrado, sea en la vocación sacerdotal, como consagrada. Esa es nuestra misión, ser Buenos Pastores, que conocemos a nuestros fieles, que les ayudemos a ser de Dios, a seguir a Jesús. Con nuestras fragilidades y defectos los Sacerdotes de esta comunidad parroquial luchamos por ser buenos pastores, tal vez a veces no lo hacemos, y pedimos perdón por ello, pero tengan por seguro que nuestro deseo e intenciones no son otras que ser imágenes de ese Buen Pastor que es Jesús.

Oremos mis hermanas y mis hermanos por los sacerdotes y consagrados, que sepamos ser verdaderos pastores de nuestra Iglesia, oremos por los que están preparándose para que sean verdaderos pastores, y oremos para que el Señor siga tocando al corazón de muchos y muchas jóvenes, especialmente de nuestra comunidad parroquial, para que muchos deseen ser Buenos Pastores.

Que Dios nos bendiga a todos.
