God is not a God of the dead but of the living.

In our Catholic profession of faith, we profess that we await the “resurrection of the dead,” which is a fundamental topic in the life of a Christian Catholic. Jesus himself speaks of the resurrection and invites us to believe in the resurrection of the dead. In the Gospel of this Thirty-Second Sunday of Ordinary Time, Jesus tells the Sadducees, who denied the resurrection of the dead, “In this life, people get married or are given in marriage, but those who are considered worthy of taking part in the future life and the resurrection from the dead will not marry nor be given in marriage.” For they can no longer die, they are like the angels and children of God because they will participate in the resurrection.

Jesus argues that those deemed worthy of a future life experience the resurrection. So, Jesus invites us to work in a way to be judged worthy of future life, that is, to live the gospel, to live the beatitudes, and to follow the commandment of love so that we strive to be sons and daughters of God. Jesus also said that those worthy of the resurrection will live like angels; they are children of God. Jesus helps us to see clearly that the resurrection is the ultimate expression of spiritual life. It is the beatific vision of God. It’s the destination of believers. Another feature of the resurrection is the awareness that our God is a God of the living, not of the dead, and from this point of view, whether we are alive or die, we are all alive to God.

The invitation to live the resurrection is an invitation to live as children of God here on earth, preparing for the future resurrection in heaven. That requires us to behave and live as children of God, live Jesus’ demands from the gospel, and live the commandment of love and forgiveness, and it requires our awareness of our being sons and daughters of God. Only then can we live the most beautiful thing God gives us: life, salvation, and resurrection. That is the life of faith of the Christian Catholic who awaits the resurrection of the dead.

Last week, we celebrated the Solemnity of All Saints. We celebrated those being human like us. They knew how to live the demands of Jesus here on earth, preparing them for heaven’s resurrection. Even more, they are presented to us as models of following Jesus. We also commemorated the faithful departed, all those brothers and sisters who were called before us to live their own resurrection. For Christian Catholics, death is not the end but the beginning of true life. For Christian Catholics, death is only the passage from the present world to spiritual life, to the beatific vision of God. That is the way to live the resurrection. As Christian Catholics, when we suffer the death of a loved one and the pain of their departure, we should rejoice in their resurrection because they have been worthy of Jesus’ resurrection.

My brothers and sisters, let us live these mysteries of our faith. Let us live Jesus’ proposal, and above all, guided by the gospel, let us rejoice to be alive and already resurrected because our “God is not a God of the dead but of the living; because to him, all are alive.”

May God bless us all.

Dios no es un Dios de muertos, sino de vivos.

En nuestro credo católico profesamos que esperamos la resurrección de los muertos. Este es un tema fundamental en la vida del cristiano católico. Jesús mismo nos habla de la resurrección, y nos invita a creer en esa resurrección de los muertos. En evangelio de este XXXII Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario Jesús claramente le explica a los saduceos, quienes negaban la resurrección de los muertos y les dice que “En esta vida, hombres y mujeres se casan, pero los que sean juzgados dignos de la vida futura y de la resurrección de entre los muertos no se casarán. Pues ya no pueden morir, son como ángeles; son hijos de Dios, porque participan en la resurrección”.

Jesús defiende que los que sean juzgados dignos de la vida futura, son los que experimentarán la resurrección. De modo que Jesús nos invita a trabajar para ser juzgados dignos de la vida futura, es decir que vivamos el evangelio, que vivamos las bienaventuranzas, que cumplamos el mandato del amor, que luchemos por ser hijos e hijas de Dios. Nos dice también que los que son dignos de la resurrección viven como ángeles, son hijos de Dios. Nos deja ver claro que la resurrección es la máxima expresión de la vida espiritual, es la visión beatífica de Dios. Otra característica de la resurrección es la toma de conciencia de que nuestro Dios, es un Dios de vivos no de muertos y desde este punto de vista, sea que muramos, sea que vivimos, para Dios todos estamos vivos.

Como podemos ver, el tema de la resurrección, como la invitación a vivir como hijos de Dios aquí en la tierra, nos exige comportarnos y vivir como hijos de Dios, nos exige vivir las exigencias de Jesús en el evangelio, nos exige vivir el mandato del amor, del perdón, nos exige tomar conciencia de nuestro ser hijos e hijas de Dios, solamente así, podremos vivir lo que Dios nos ofrece, vida, salvación, resurrección. Esta es la vida del cristiano católico que espera la resurrección de los muertos. Esta explicación de Jesús a los saduceos es una invitación de Jesús a vivir nuestra resurrección aquí en la tierra y prepararnos para la resurrección futura allá en el cielo.

La semana pasada, en nuestra Iglesia Católica, celebramos la solemnidad de todos los santos. Celebrábamos que ellos, siendo humanos como nosotros supieron vivir las exigencias de Jesús aquí en la tierra, lo que los preparó para resucitar allá en el cielo, y todavía más, la Iglesia nos los presenta a todos ellos como modelos del seguimiento de Jesús. También conmemoramos a los fieles difuntos, todos aquellos hermanos y hermanas nuestros que se nos adelantaron a vivir la resurrección. Para nosotros los cristianos católicos, la muerte no es el final, sino el principio de la verdadera vida. Para el cristiano católico la muerte es solamente el paso a la vida espiritual, es el paso a la visión beatífica de Dios, es el paso para vivir la resurrección. Por ello los cristianos católicos sufrimos la muerte de un ser querido, por el dolor que causa su partida, pero sobre todo nos alegramos en la resurrección de nuestros hermanos y hermanas, porque han sido dignos de vivir también ellos su resurrección.

Mis hermanos y mis hermanas, vivamos estos misterios de nuestra fe, vivamos la propuesta de Jesús, y sobre todo guiados por este evangelio gocemos por estar vivos y resucitados, porque “Dios no es un Dios de muertos, sino de vivos; porque para El todos están vivos”.

Que Dios nos bendiga.

Let's Do It Together

Do you like discussing books you have read, knitting, playing an instrument, making crafts, teaching others a skill, playing board games, walking or some other activity that is more enjoyable when done with others, then how about being part of such a group in our parish community. Simply inform Fr. Jim (718-838-9084) of the activity you would like to do and he will advertise it in this bulletin for others to sign up. If there is sufficient interest, Fr. Jim will help the group select a meeting day and time as well as reserve a meeting space. The groups can meet for a one-time event or for several weeks based upon the interest of the participants. Let's all take a break from the television and computer to enjoy some fun activities together.

Consultants Wanted

Our parish is often in need of subject matter experts to advise the staff about electrical work, plumbing and heating, construction, carpentry, concrete and painting. If you possess skills in any of those and other areas, please let Fr. Jim know of your skill and availability. Your knowledge and experience can be very helpful to the parish when it has to make decisions with contractors regarding projects that the staff has limited knowledge of.
